DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

In view of the amendment filed January 4, 2007, the rejections under 35 USC 112, second paragraph set forth in the October 11, 2006, Office action are withdrawn. The particle sizes being claimed are sufficiently defined and all claim dependencies are correct.

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 41-44 are rejected under 35 USC 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite as they present improper Markusch groups.

Each of these claims recite language "selected from the group consisting of..." but end with the conjunction "or." Proper Markusch language requires the language "selected from the group consisting of ... and (emphasis added)..." Correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 24, 26-30, and 39-44 are rejected under 35 USC 103(a) as being unpatentable over Jaffee (US 6187697) in view of Leclercq (US 20030175478) substantially as set forth in the October 11, 2006, Office action.

Response to Arguments

Art Unit: 1771

Applicant argues that the Examiner has offered no evidence that the materials of the prior art would possess the properties of the claimed invention. This argument is unpersuasive as the materials of the prior art provide the same components in amounts that at least overlap what is claimed here and the Examiner positively shifted the burden of proving a difference to applicant in the previous Office actions. Applicant cannot pick and choose items for comparison and expect the Patent Office to conduct such testing. . The Patent Office is not equipped to perform such testing as is well established in the law. Please see In re Fitzgerald (205 USPQ 594) and In re Best (195 USPQ 433).

The arguments regarding the method used by Leclercq to fabricate the material disclosed therein are unpersuasive as the claims at issue here are product claims and are not particularly limited by the method used to produce the product. While process limitations can limit the product produced therefrom, it is not seen in this application that that is the case. Thus, these arguments are not found to be convincing.

The arguments regarding the Examples and Comparative Examples set forth in the present specification are found unpersuasive as they are not commensurate in scope with the applied prior art as set forth above.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
